

Press release
Safe Futures Canada

Youth Today ~ Youth Tomorrow

In 2006, Scott Davis & Sonia McDonald teamed up to create Safe futures Canada, a unique partnership to addresses violence prevention, internet safety, bullying and general issues of safety. An experienced Police Officer and a Child and Youth Counsellor team has proven to be an excellent means of facilitating a non judgemental, therapeutic approach mixed with a informed legal component.

SafeFutures Canada develops and delivers a variety of programs and presentations for parents, students, professionals and members of the community. We endeavour to consistently raise the level of awareness in the community through innovative program delivery and maintaining full service packages. Our approach is truly a pro-active, all inclusive one. Our goal is to generate a cohesive environment for learning by incorporating students, community members, police, schools and parents in the process. We feel that creating a positive and pro-active environment will generate a decrease in violence and bullying while increasing safety awareness.

On Wednesday, November 26th, SafeFutures Canada is holding a one day conference in Guelph, in partnership with Community Torchlight Distress Centre. This exciting conference is the first of it's kind in this area. If you are a Teacher, Child and Youth Counsellor, Police Officer, Administrator, Crisis Worker, Social Worker or a Parent, this is the conference for you. This is your opportunity to find out about emerging trends in youth culture and learn strategies that will help you learn to adapt. At the conference, you will have your choice of workshops presented by a team of professionals including Child & Youth Workers and Police Officers and Social Workers.

If you are interested in attending the conference or would like further information, please contact Sonia McDonald for further information at 905-866-2172 or visit www.safefuturescanada.ca